

Commercial Vehicle Financing has an Integral Role in Strengthening the Infrastructure Development Ecosystem: Anand Bang, COO, Tata Motors Finance

"As the transportation and logistics industry has a pivotal role in any growing economy, the demand for commercial vehicles is often viewed as an integral and initial barometer for measuring the scale of infrastructure development in the country.

The Commercial Vehicles financed by Tata Motors Finance are majorly involved in carrying heavy freights such as steel coils, iron, stones, and other building supplies. Moreover, this cargo is critical for advancing India's infrastructure development, including the roads, rails, bridges, and other construction projects. Additionally, TMF is one of the leading financier to first-time buyer segment that enables last-mile delivery.

With our decades-long industry experience, we recognize the necessity of reliable, efficient, and robust commercial logistics in driving the development of the country's infrastructure.

Resultingly, we at Tata Motors Finance are committed to accelerating India's infrastructure development by strengthening the ecosystem for commercial vehicles.

We are of the firm belief that a strong, sustainable, and resilient commercial logistics chain is essential for India's unhindered infrastructure progress.

We thrive to offer industry's best CV financing solutions, enabling fleet owners and businesses to grow and succeed in India's dynamic and fast-paced economy. With our array of last-mile finance solutions, we endeavor to fuel India's progress by financing first-time buyers and users who majorly contribute to the country's inclusive development.

Through our innovative and customized value-added services, we are empowering our customers and businesses to participate in the development of key infrastructure projects, ultimately driving India forward towards a brighter and more connected future."
